SHREE SHREE THAKUR'S 49th BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

Today's festival is not for celebration, it is meant for those flood stricken people, to help them in any possible way. This celebration is for those distressed people, for the betterment of race and society. I have asserted this earlier that today we are worshipping mother Goddess in order to grasp Her ideology, in order to grab Her Scimitar and Lord Shiva's Trident (Trishula). Vedic philosophy also preaches the concept of reformation of society and race. Veda and several scriptures preach this unequivocal notion of positivity. If you follow the ideologies of those scriptures, then, for instance my uncle (maternal uncle), who is sitting here, I remember him chanting the mantras and holding notional sacrifice in my village home stead. Notional sacrifice would take place, when we all used to hold that sacrificial sword and then the sacrifice of the Pithali (a paste of pounded rice) used to take place. If those scriptures are consisted with the idea of evils - then these are the enemies of our nation, enemies of the citizens. Destroy all those unholy demoniac convictions. Those who are creating hindrance by becoming impediment in the advancement of the society, they are not the associates of the community, whoever they are our scriptures (Shastra) has strongly instructed to demolish all of them. Previously I have apprised about this concept that whenever I have tried to convey something the concept of politics (Rajneeti) comes along with that discussion. But spirituality (religious acts) can never be approached without the concept of "Rajneeti" (Politics). If it would be different from each other, then the chronicles would have portrayed the images of Gods and Goddesses without weapons. As we need flowers, marmelos leaves (Belpata) utensils and others things to worship God, similarly to protect our family, we need to create environment to nurture positive thinking. In my village I saw thousands of thousands watermelons lay in the ground, no one ever thought to steal those. I had once asked the farmer- "O! brother thousands of thousands melons are lying in the field, does nobody ever try to pilfer those melons?" the farmer replied – "No Gosai no one has ever tried to steal those." After informing this, the farmer cut a watermelon and offered me pieces. Hence, I cannot assert that human race is atrocious or brutal, human temperament has reached to this stage under the viciousness of deprivation and self-centeredness. Where my father used to work he used to get milk 2/3 paisa per Kg. No one could ever think of blending water in milk. In our country where in every moment we can witness the gracious presence of Sun and Moon, where seeds use to germinate naturally so sprightly, it is impossible to experience such deprivation (scarcity) if it is not concocted by mass. By the law of this very Nature, or the Creator, we saw so many lives have been instantly wiped out in North Bengal. One Who is The Originator - can create and that way He can destroy too. Today our poor destructed brothers and sisters are staring at us helplessly as we are wearing good clothes, where they remain exposed and unprotected to the harshness of nature. There are people who are eating foods from dust-bin and straight ahead of them we are consuming scrumptious foods, we are accepting and bearing seeing all these. This is the real situation of our nation but no one has ever thought to bring revolution. Have you ever thought of that? They (those deserted people) never think of attacking your property/habitation. Nobody has that inclination to commit unjust act but they have been conditioned by the crookedness of the circumstances. In God's domain the vigilant of Anahata always alerting us. No one has ever eye-witnessed God but they (“Jeeb” -Creatures) can perceive the responses of God at every moment. Still why do creatures fail to acknowledge? The mild thudding sound (beating) of heart has been associated with the same degree of implanted celestial tuning. As if someone is hindering the internal conscience of our heart. Though we are all repentant, but it does not matter how much we use to extenuate our expressions, if there was an X-Ray machine to exhibit all our actions, then nobody could ever look at each other, nobody would ever trust each other. Thankfully! they are not becoming acquainted with that reality. There are so many people in search of God, thinking where does God reside? He is dwelling through the internal fine tune of our heart. Only that person can get to know the real enigmatic existence of God, who will successfully attune the mind with that eternal tune of the Universe.

We always remain desolated and dejected as we all fail to tune ourselves with that of the celestial melody. Only that person can become a true devotee who will triumphantly maintain the utmost purity and clarity of that transpicuous motion which comes from our internal conscience. But all those fake opportunistic preachers of our society are creating commotion; they are destroying the society, creating discrimination in the social norms only to serve their acquisitive purpose. Hence, we should realize how to proceed in the path of life. First we need to accept that we are all traveller, we are all wayfarer, and the purpose of our birth is to tune ourselves with that celestial strain. Keep distance from those who always render negativity and despondency, who always talk about dejection and hopelessness. Lord Vishnu states Narod Muni that the easiest job is to witness God where Deborshee Narod doubtfully retorts back - then everyone assumes that we will never witness God for the transgression and the guilty feeling of our mind. Lord Vishnu replies- those who are lamenting that they are not witnessing God- if they are introspective and compassionate about this, then you can realize his understanding of this truth is contained with that conscious perception, his instrument is tuning perfectly, and his sensitivity is awake and attentive. Your impotence is not the matter of concern, but the comprehension of your ineffectiveness is important. The person who can comprehend his inefficacy to tune his instrument, then that instrument itself will automatically edify him how to do it. If you fail to solve any problem of mathematics, it means you are well aware of that problem, that is why you are capable of stating that, then you will certainly solve the problem either with your own brain power and observation or by utilizing others intelligence. Hence, in order to develop your understanding, the concept of chanting Naam (RAM NARAYAN RAM) has been introduced. Naam is that ultimate supreme sound, that absolute unparalleled sound. Every phenomenon has been created from that predominant greatest sound, raining, lightning all have derived their form from that sound (all are perceiving their form from that divine melody). Accordingly if you will always engage yourself with that celestial tune, then it will be vibrating inside you. That vibration will always create that thudding sound (Gum Gum) inside you. Earthquake, flood these natural occurrences also create sudden thrust which is also a kind of sound. Those phenomena which draw their sustenance from that supreme sound, only that absolute sound can capture those phenomena. Each and everything in this universe exists with the help of that sound. That means this sound is the ultimate resource of any motion. The locomotion of the car also results from that sound that is why we can hear the screeching noise of the car. That predominant tune consists in everything. Think, why does this tune resides in everything? Our whole universe is comprised of that sound. There is no difference in sound and in universe. Universe is another form of sound - just as water and ice crystals. Ice consolidates from ocean and it is this ice which also floats on the surface of ocean. Similarly, accumulating its form/structure from that sound our universe is also levitating in the ocean of sound. Our existence is also floating in the waves of sound like the ice crystals. Sound is not just a phonic existence, it exists in each and every action, gestures, even the movements of our fingers is comprised of that vibration and is part of that sound. Phonetic language and sound are similar. But what is the language of a new born baby? The incomprehensible babbling sound of a baby (onya...onya...) also consists a profound tune. Likewise the throwing gestures of hands and legs of a baby are also involved with that sound. When something hurts the infant, it makes sounds like onya... onya... , at this vulnerable stage every child can only express their emotions with one universal language, they do not reciprocate through their mother tongue. Where each and everything is so minutely and carefully arranged in this universe then why it becomes necessary for us to always search for God in scriptures? At the same time it is also noteworthy that we never need to explore our thirst for water. Tiger is drinking water from one side, deer is drinking water from other side, and where as human being is satisfying his thirst from another side. Your thirst for water is such spontaneous action that nobody needs to inform you about that particular sense. Then why are we longing for witnessing God, who has created this phenomenal universe? A person in his yearning for God is asking another person whether he will ever be able to witness God or not. Think about it, why don't you ask anyone whether they are feeling thirsty or not? In the scriptures of our lifecycle, witnessing God has become so easy. I do not value the object which

I get easily hold of, that is why I do not evaluate the real worth of God. Where people with unhinged mind always searching for that ultimate profound meditative state in their lives, they do not understand that creator has himself provided us with that supreme meditative state. Our sleep is the God gifted meditative condition. If a person sleeps with half-closed (unfurled eyes), he cannot observe anything other than his profound snoring sound. If that person would have asked to snore consciously then he would have started bleeding after 5 mins. But he can snore unconsciously for hours after hours without getting affected by it. The reason behind that action of snoring is that in our sleep – that certain inhibition becomes unanchored. The internal snake which is situated within ourselves become conscious and it seeks provision hence we snore while asleep. We are running only after unscrupulous objects, leaving behind the precious valuable objects.

It is alarming the way we are destroying our spontaneous meditative state in our sleep. One starts to dream right at the moment when the meditation occurs in the sleep. Dream can be baseless, but through this process of dreaming one can achieve all those things effortlessly which is hard to accomplish otherwise. If one thinks that he will be flying in his dream then he can certainly perform that action in his dream because the tune of Anahata becomes unbound during that moment. A person is walking on the water surface- but if you will be asked to perform the same then your reply will be 'No'. Your mind has the potential to reach such a state in your dream that you can conduct anything as per your wish. The way turbid water is filtered through the blotting paper in order to get the transparent texture, likewise the impurities of your mind gets purified in that profound meditative state of sleep, so every possible actions becomes possible in the state of dream. In order to penetrate that state we need to engage ourselves with the state of meditation with perseverance and full devotion. You cannot fly while you are awake but you can fly easily in your dream. You will become successful when you can bring that state of mind of your dream in your awakened state. When I was just 7/8 years old, I had thousands of thousands devotees in Ujanchar( Bangladesh). One of them was Nobodweep. I instructed him to chant the Mantra while asleep. He witnessed Lord Shiva in his dream. He even saw Lord Shiva sitting in front of his eyes after waking up, though just for few moments. He had witnessed so many occurrences like this, I have told you earlier. So the great Yogis engage themselves in that profound meditation just to maintain that pure state of mind of their dream in their awaken state. Even now there are great Yogis who still absorbed in deep meditation in the deep sacred zone of hills. I came across so many of those great devotees in my childhood when I used to visit that zone. Think how mesmerizing it is, the supreme creator has gifted you such magnificent meditative state of mind that you do not need to invest any effort, you instinctively fall asleep. Just keep chanting that Mantra while asleep. You can certainly reach to the ocean just by curving and following the path of the water hole beside your home. You do not need to pursue any other course of action. Try to utilize this gifted form of Samadhi. Remember souls (spirits) can never procure this state of meditation- as you are all still acquiring your body, you can easily achieve that state of mind, and it is in your hand. Hence, do not leave your dream in an ineffectual state. Willingly or unwillingly, always chant the Naam, always remain immerse in that absolute supreme tune, always chant the Mantra. What is the significance of this sound? This sound is considered to be greatest sound. Everything has been emerged from this sound. We need to chant Naam relentlessly to attune our instrumental tune with the same degree of that supreme sound. Our Ira, Pingola, Susumna, our Agyachakra flourish due to the tuning with that celestial melody. Always engage yourself with the process of chanting. If you will continue to chant the Naam persistently then every particle of your entity will be saturated in that universal tuning. Then you will not feel attraction towards any other objects around you. Nature will itself arrange your promotion - it will protect you, it will veil you to lead you towards that ultimate destination. Then you can observe everything remaining in one particular place. You need to do nothing just to maneuver that pendulum continuously - you will notice, everything will be transpiring in front of your eyes surprisingly. You cannot comprehend this concept right at this moment, but once you become aware of its existence within yourself you will be mesmerized. Today you are frenetically searching for that ultimate destination, just like the deer frantically searches for musk but it does not realize that the musk is contained in its own body. Similarly, we are also searching of that fragrance in our extrinsic surface whereas that incredible feeling is embedded within us.

Well, I have nothing to say more. A disaster has blown over Jalpaiguri, so many people has become shelter less. Members of Santal Dall have managed to gather almost 6000 clothes, 10 'mon' (quintal) wheat grain, 4 'mon' (quintal) rice grain from several places. These essentials have been sent by Roy and Ajit Bhattacharya.
